The Apollo Club Concert.

The Apollo Club Coucert.

The popularity of the famous Apollo Club can be said to be established if the immense audience that assembled at the Congregational Church last night and the hearry demonstrations of approval can be cited as a criterion. The concert given last night was in every respect a pronounced success, and Washington has reason to be proud of pessessing such an organization.

The interest, of course, centered in the choruses by the cith, and it is needless to say that the five choruses were all magnificantly rendered, showing the most careful practice, the numbers being, "Blue Bells of Scotland" and "Anule Laurie," arranged by Dudley Buck, "Wedding at Corinth," by Koschot, and "King Oloffs Christmax," by Buck. The soles in the latter were saug by Mr. Woodruff, of New York, and Mr. J. Henry Eclaer, of the club, who is the possessor of a very rich bartone voice, though not displayed to its fail capacity in his soles.

Mme. Easpar, our favoritie soprano, sang with fine effect one of Rodes' most difficult compositions, and for an encore the beautiful builed, "There's a Fath by the litver." Jensen's "Munnuring Zephyrn" were finely rendered by Mr. Woodruff, showing a cultivated voice of sweet tone and good range, and in response to an encore sang "Marie. The two orchestral numbers were well executed, and showed the entirent adultity of Professor E. S. Eimball as a musical conductor.

Is Stileon Hatchins in training for a foreign mission? It's a very dold day in Washington when anybody gives a dinner party and leaves Hatch out. His dinner to the British Minister and to Wyndham was rapidly followed by Tom Ochilireo's dinner to him, and we observe that he turned up smilling at the Shorman dinner yesteriay. and with profanity growing out of a collision between Butterhoff's huckster wagon endeavored to turn out of the way a smashup ensued, and the shaft of the huckster wagon was precipitated through the carriage door, narrowly missing a disastrous accident to Mr. Stewart. Judge Snell fined

Minnehaha Lodge of Good Templars.

The lodgeroom of this active and flourishing organization was fairly crowded last evening by the members of the lodge and visitors from other lodges. The earnest, intelligent and progressive membership of the order, as seen in that assemblage, is well calculated to give uneasiness to the liquor interest and draukard-makers, as well as to inspire that portion of the community who would place themselves upon the side of temperance with a desire to be admitted to these meetings, and participate in the business and enjoyments they present. A number of ladies and gentlemen were admitted to membership, and afterward tendered the usual pleasant reception, and at its close a large Minnehaha Lodge of Good Templars. men were admitted to membership, and afterward tendered the usual pleasant reception, and at its close a large

A Pleasant Entertainment.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

A delightful musical and literary entertainment was given last night at the Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church for the benefit of the Sunday-school. The programme embraced a choice selection of vocal and instrumental solos and ducts, interspersed with readings and recitations, and the large and appreciative audience was well repaid for their attendance. Little May Carrigan gave one of her inimitable recitations; Misses Ferguson and Webstor rendered a vocal duct in a pleasing manner: Miss Birney, Miss Myers, Miss Bangs, Miss Mestray, Miss Hoberts, Miss Grigg and Messrs. Forseman, Wilson, Forsyth and Professor Townsend made up the remainder of the programme, and their efforts were well received. The feature of the entertainment was the rendition of the beautiful solo, "Last Hours of Joan of Arc." by Miss Emma Detweller, one of Professor Bischoff's most promising pupils. This young lady possesses a remarkably sweet and well cultivated voice, which she used in such an effective manner as to call forth a hearty encore, to which she gracefully responded. The entire entertainment reflected great credit upon the performers, and it is understood a handsome sum was realized. stood a handsome sum was realized.

Funds For the Associated Charities. A committee, composed of A. S. Solomons Rev. Dr. Bartlett, L. S. Emery, C. E. Foster and Rev. Dr. Wyncoop, representing the Associated Charities of the District of Columbia, had a protracted interview with the Senate Committee on Appropriations in reference to giving the association $5,000 for establishing industries and perfecting the organization as an educational medium of instructing the poor how to help themselves. The committee viewed with much favor the objects of such a practical charity, and recommended that the Commissioners be consulted to embody the sum asked for in their estimates for the coming year. Subsequently the Commissioners were waited upon, and expressed a willingness to amend the estimates they have already sent in, provided it is not too late for them to do so.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Fest, 12, 1883.
To the Hom. Fouri of Communication of Midvid

To the Hear, Recruige Communicates, District of Commission.

GENTLEMEN: I beg leave to invite the attention of your homorable beard to the fact that many very worthy citizens and taxpayers of hits District do new suffer gross injustice in the fallure to provide legislation for the adjustment of that very meritorious class of outstanding claims known as claims for special damages to real estate.

The Board of Audit was abolished in 1876, thad not been extended to cover claims, capably meritorious, growing out of public improvements made subsequent to June 26, 1874.

improvements made subsequent to June 26, 1874.

Our citizens have appealed to Congress annually, and at successive aforts have failed in one or both Houses of Congress by being smothered in committee.

This session we have the same old story of "no quorum" and "no business done" at each meeting of the District Committees.

Bome claimants have petitioned for the separate and poer privilege of going to the Court of Claims. One bill granting this permit has peased the House of Representatives and is now on the calcular of the Sanate.

Two sixth bills for clients of mine have been recently referred by the House District Committee to your board for information.

I solicit an early report on them, and earnestly appeal to your board to formulate the needed legislation to cover all such cases and submit the same to the Fresident, with the request that he make the matter the subject of a special message to Congress.

Respectfully submitted.

E. W. Whitaber.

The Emancipation Celebration.

A meeting of colored citizens was held at a hall on C street, between Fourand-a-half and Sixth streets, last night, for the purpose of arranging for an Emancipation celebration. O. S. B. Wall occupied the chair and called the meeting to order. The attendance was small and Colonel Perry H. Carson suggested that an adjournment be taken to next Tuesday. He moved that a committee of five be appointed to enlist the interest of citizens of the District in the movement. He reminded the members of the meeting that the celebration of this grand occasion had slept for many years until last year, when they had a grand display. He wanted this thing kept up.

The following were appointed to work up the matter for Tuesday: P. H. Carson, seventeenth district; A. T. Johnson, twenty-first district: L. Willes, eighteenth district; D. Stiles, twentieth district, and Ralph Wormley, second district. The Emancipation Celebration.

Sickness at Hampton Soldiers

Home.
An elderly soldier, who has arrived in South Washington from the Soldiers' Hom at Hampton, Va., reports that great con-sternation prevails among the veterans about the immense number of sick men now at the Home. A few days ago they all sat down to dinner and ate heartily, for the meal was composed of more than the usual amount of delicacies. Shortly after dinner several of the soldiers complained of being sick and retired to their beds. It was not long before the complaint became epidemic, and now over 200 of the veterans are sick. It is supposed that by accident poison got into the food. The men are under skillful medical attendance and no fear is enter-tained of death among them. at Hampton, Va., reports that great con-
